

Role

Head of Production (f/m/d) in Frankfurt am Main

We are looking for a motivated Head of Production (f/m/d) for our production team in Frankfurt am Main to join our young company and take on responsibility for all production related topics. If you have the necessary experience and previous knowledge in dealing with custom painting, printing or wrapping and are prepared to go the extra mile in the further development of madeone as part of the core team and grow with us, then we look forward to receive your application.

Your tasks

- You will be heading up our production team including full team responsibility
- You will be realizing custom products (helmets, bicycle frames, fridges and more) of highest quality with a hands-on mentality
- Your tasks include the preparatory work (masking, sanding) and the painting of products with a spray gun and airbrush (paints, clear lacquer, effect lacquers such as flake or neon, details, shades, etc.)
- You bring in your experience and skills to our production at our location in Frankfurt am Main and become an important part of our management team
- You control the processes in our production and help to develop them further
- You will be involved in the development of new designs and production techniques and provide advice on feasibility and quality assurance
- You will be involved in the recruitment of new team members as well as new facilities and equipments

Our requirements

- You are experienced with painting work or wrapping (e.g. vehicle painting or airbrush, work with helmets is not required)
- You are open minded in other possibilities of product customization such as digital printing, wrapping etc.
- Personal interest in creative work
- Self-starter with an innate curiosity and the commitment to test, learn, adapt and be agile in a constantly evolving environment
- Active team player
- Passion for madeone's vision to change the way people buy products

Our work environment

madeone is (still) a small but solid and experienced start-up organization. We are a growth company that looks for strong individuals to grow with it. madeone offers a competitive salary package, casual work environment, a diverse and inclusive culture, and the ideal platform for professional development. At madeone, every employee is a creative and business minded person. We unite diverse perspectives - digital designers, printing technologist and painters, coders and customer service experts - to share knowledge of customized experiences. Our space is not a creative office, it is not a hands-on custom workshop. It's both. We grow our teams steadily to make sure we are able to bring our mission to life.

About us

The madeone concept was born out of our own professional experiences with successful mass customization businesses at the Global Sports Brand Nike and our own start-up business helmade.com which has put a stamp on the world of customization experiences in a highly complex industry. Since 2015 the helmade customization service is revolutionizing the helmet industry by allowing helmet manufacturers to offer customized products to their customers. As a consequence we have brought to life madeone as our overarching company setup with helmade being our first portfolio brand and running business case. To us the future of products and services is custom. We are a team of fast living minds with true passion for design and individuality. madeone represents and offers 'Customization as a Service (CaaS)'. We are passionate about this business potential and believe all companies and brands should have the possibility to add a customization service to their existing product lines. We are no agency. We are offering our clients not only a one-of-a-kind frontend 3D configurator technology but we are positioning ourselves as a B2B or potentially B2C fulfillment partner for handling our clients' customization business. We invest in our teams and digital experiences, exciting new business models, production methods and inspiring concepts that drive the future of customization.
